The great commandment of love is not something "mysterious" or "remote." Indeed, it is "very near" to us. Yet how difficult it is to fulfill, being neighbor to whomever is in need. But if we seek God, we must "go and do the same", for we have been created in, for, and through Christ.

LIVING THE WORD

Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

July 7, 2019

REFLECTION

It is time to roll up our sleeves and get to work! In today's reading, the Gospel according to Luke reports Jesus' pep talk to the disciples and the additional seventy-two who are now joining ranks. He says, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few" (Luke 10:2). Jesus does not care about the age or status of those he is recruiting to spread the Good News. He just wants hard workers who will not back down as they face obstacles along the way, especially rejection. Jesus keeps the pep talk going as he encourages the followers to bring peace to the house they enter on their journey. Evangelizing with peace was an important concept to convey as there was sure to be opposition and strife in their efforts. However, even in the face of adversity, "the seventy-two returned rejoicing" (Luke 10:17). As people of God, how are we laboring for Jesus?

ACTION

Visit a u-pick farm this week. Help with the harvest of berries or lettuce or whatever is in season. Consider sharing a percentage of your harvest with a local food bank. Many food banks receive fruits and vegetables that big box stores will not put out because they have some kind of deformity, bruise, or are even past their prime and might even be moldy. Imagine the joy you could contribute to a group of people this week because of the bounty you picked and shared with them. In this way, you will be spreading God's love abundantly!
