Second Collection Next Weekend

The annual second collection for St. Vincent de Paul Georgia will happen during all masses next weekend, September 19 - 20. This collection goes not only to helping people in our area, but also to families and individuals in need across the state. A large network of volunteers, community partners, and a central support staff allows SVdP Georgia to provide life-changing programs and services, including direct aid assistance, Client Choice Food Pantries, and support that helps clients move toward stability and self-sufficiency. With a commitment to compassion and respect, SVdP works tirelessly to help thousands of families and individuals in need.

Last year, St. Vincent de Paul Georgia delivered over $19 million in financial, material, educational, and spiritual support to more than 116,000 people. This support helps keep people in their homes, ensures that their utilities stay on, and puts food on their tables. This special second collection helps St. Vincent de Paul continue this mission. Please be generous during this collection, and know that your donation goes directly to help families and individuals move from crisis to stability. Donations may also be given via Online Giving at olmcc.com.

Dear friends in Christ, during this time of pandemic the tendency to worry incessantly about the mysterious virus that has altered, at least for most of us, our customary lifestyle—even to the point of keeping us away from communal worship, let’s remember that as the great 20th century German Catholic philosopher Joseph Pieper (1904-1997) taught, it is a part of human flourishing to develop an “inward calm” regardless of worldly circumstances. To be leisurely is not the same as being slothful. If we are open to it, we might develop a greater sense of the former during this time. We have an unprecedented opportunity, as Pieper might say, to “slow down and listen to the essence of things.” Sometimes incessant activity robs us of our human need to recreate (re-create, recharge physically and spiritually). Constant connectivity to our smart phones, computers and digital “noise” in general is not helpful to human flourishing. For one thing, so much of the internet is clearly oriented toward worldly (and not heavenly) things. There is a six-hour period each Saturday in which you can leave the phone and the 24/7 connectivity for a few precious moments, or an hour or two, if you like, and rediscover the gift of silence of mind and body, and simply “be” in the presence of the Most Blessed Sacrament. From the hours of 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. each Saturday, I encourage all to spend some time in the Chapel of the Holy Rosary to adore Our Lord, and return to the things that really matter, heavenly things. Do not come to Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament expecting immediate clarification about anything that may be on your mind or troubling you. Clarification is more likely to come slowly, over time. Instead, come to Adoration with a contemplative, receptive state of mind. Be at leisure and rest in the peace of Christ.

In Christ,

Fr. Mark Thomas
